Mayor Cherie Wood

Each year, I present a tentative budget to the City Council for adoption. This collaborative process brings the needs and priorities of our community to the forefront. We are all personally experiencing increasing costs for goods and services, and municipal government is no different. Let's talk about how we fund our City.

South Salt Lake is a small city, with big city issues and is at a critical juncture for providing basic, essential services. We have seen significant growth over the past 10 years. Census data shows a 13% increase in our population, with a notable jump in the near future as needed housing projects in our downtown and near transit lines go vertical. Our population nearly triples in the daytime as a central transportation hub and commerce district. In our 84th year as a City, our infrastructure continues to age and deteriorate. Rising costs are outpacing our utility fees. As it stands, there simply isn't enough in the budget to maintain the current level of service.

Our aging City has significant budget needs. So, how do we address them? This year's proposed budget suggests an increase from $66 million to $86 million. This expanded budget includes more police officers, from 70 to 76, and four additional fire personnel to keep up with the ever-rising public safety demand while reducing the response time to priority calls. Additionally, we propose funding for the expansion and essential rebuilding of our Public Works Campus. The budget also addresses the reconstruction of 700 West, parks lighting upgrades, State Street streetscape improvements, and a new well essential for meeting our future water needs.

How will we pay for it?

I am pleased to say that the bulk of the $20 million increase will be funded through established revenue sources. Department heads and city staff have been working hard to secure private and public grant funds and low or no interest bonds and loans. Sales and highway tax revenue make up the remaining portion.

Public Safety Service Special Revenue Fund

To fund our City's future, $6.6 million in new revenue must be generated. The budget proposal includes a new fund, the

Funding our City's Future

Public Safety Service (PSS) Special Revenue Fund. This fund will capture and track all public safety services, increasing transparency for our single largest city service. Just as it sounds, these funds are allocated specifically for public safety and cannot be spent elsewhere. Public safety expenditures have consistently risen for the past six years. The majority of the cost is expended on personnel. At present, 15% of our public safety budget is funded through grant dollars. We have sought outside funding whenever possible. As our City grows, so do our public safety needs. Adopting the PSS enacts a levy that will annually generate $3.5 million. These funds mean an increased presence, shortened response times, and proactive policing. These proposed funds will be allocated to retain qualified staff, recruit and meet the public safety needs of our busy City. The PSS would be a new line item on your property tax bill, similar to what many cities in the valley have enacted.

FY23 BUDGET PROPOSAL

Utility Fee Increases

The remaining $3.1 million is comprised of new and increased utility fees. For the first time in our City's history, we are investing in a storm water utility. Lastly, an incremental increase in sewer utility fees to fund the CVWRF upgrades required by the EPA and an increase in water utility fees to fund a new well.

What does this mean for SSL residents?

The average household total expected increase is $27 a month. This will mean a new line item on your property tax bill of $19 for the PSS, $1 water rate increase, $1 sewer rate increase, and a $6 storm water utility fee.

South Salt Lake has not increased its portion of property tax since 2006. We cannot maintain the current level of service, meet the rising demand, and fund the future of public safety on yesterday's dollars. Together we can support our public safety and fund essential infrastructure needs for the future. For those who may be disproportionately burdened by proposed increases, my staff has identified county and city waivers and relief options in addition to utility assistance programs for those who meet income and hardship guidelines.

The Fiscal Year 2023 Budget Public Hearing will be held on Wednesday, June 8 at 7:30 p.m. All are encouraged to attend, comment, and make inquiries. Additionally, all your elected officials are available via phone and email (on page 1 sidebar). Lastly, visit sslc.gov for the full budget presentation.

NEW CITY COUNCIL DISTRICT BOUNDARY MAP

By law once every 10 years, following Census results, our city evaluates the population of districts to ensure that each has roughly the same amount of people.

The 2020 Census reports the population of South Salt Lake at 26,777. When redistricting SSL the approximate/target population number in each of our 5 districts is now 5,355. The new map retains existing elected officials in their current district. Locate your district on the new searchable map at: sslc.gov/city-government/city-council.

CITY COUNCIL CORNER

Our Community... Your Ideas

L. Shane Siwik, District 5

20 years ago this June, my family experienced an event that left an indelible mark on us. From that event, many other things transpired that had ripple effects throughout time.

Over years of being involved with the city, I have seen citizens come forward with ideas that became actions that became a positive change for other people. But for many people, they doubt their own ability to make a difference. They don't believe they can effect change themselves. If you are one of those people, please know that nothing is farther from the truth.

Your life's experiences continue to lead you to moments that you can help others. Your ability to help is not limited to just being politically active, although that helps for certain issues. All of us interact with people every day. You will know how to make a difference. But you have to act on the ideas you get. Our community needs your ideas, your voice and your passion. It needs your desire to help others.

South Salt Lake needs people who want to make changes. Believe you have it within you to make a difference.

Note: Opinions expressed here may not be representative of all Members of the City Council.

How the SSLFD Interfaces with Wildfires

Message from SSLFD Chief Terry Addison

Utah is on the path for another hot, dry summer that will bring an increased threat of grass and wildland fires. The South Salt Lake Fire Department has just completed their preparation for Wildland Firefighting Operations in urban areas.

The wildland-urban interface (WUI) is a zone of transition between wilderness (unoccupied land) and land developed by human activity – in other words, an area where a built environment (neighborhoods and commercial buildings) meets or intermingles with a natural environment. Areas, where people work and live in the WUI, are at a greater risk of catastrophic wildfire.

It's difficult to imagine that we would need to prepare for a wildland fire situation in our city, but these challenges are real, and we face them every year. Within our city boundaries, we have the Jordan River corridor, areas along the rail lines, highways and many open lots adjacent to businesses and homes. As the vegetation growth dries, the fire threat increases. Historically, we have been successful in containing these fires in our jurisdiction.

In addition to providing fire protection in our own jurisdiction, we may be called to assist our surrounding agencies. We may even be asked to provide resources to the Utah State Division of Forestry, Fire and State Lands. In the past, we have responded to many of these areas when called upon.

According to established agreements, the State becomes the lead agency for attacking large and extended wildland fires, and local governments agree to take proactive measures to prevent and attack wildfires within their respective jurisdictions.

With these agreements and plans in place, all lands in Utah receive wildland fire protections from the closest forces, regardless of agency jurisdiction, with a seamless response, South Salt Lake Fire is making sure we're ready to do our part!

2022 STATE OF THE CITY AWARDS

This isn't even the beginning of all of those who were recognized at this year's State of the City.

CITY COUNCIL CHAMPION —Natalie Pinkney

History was made in South Salt Lake in November of 2019 as Councilwoman Pinkney was elected as the first Black council member. As an At-Large representative, she can be found working hard on behalf of the residents and businesses of our City. Natalie is an active member of the Equity Council and Arts Council and currently serves as the City Council's vice-chair. She takes a thoughtful, collaborative approach to policy and was involved in forming legislation for our first Civilian Review Board.

EQUITY CHAMPION —Bonnie Owens

Bonnie initially made her mark in SSL as an employee of Promise. She built and sustained a thriving afterschool program at Woodrow Wilson Elementary before accepting the role of Deputy Director of Promise SSL. Soon after, she took on the additional role of leading the Promise SSL Equity Council. As chair, Bonnie has worked tirelessly to bring diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility to the City of South Salt Lake. We are grateful for Bonnie's active role and influence on diversity, equity, and inclusion in our city.

BEST FRIEND OF SENIORS —AARP - FitLot

It is no surprise that the 'City on the Move' is now home to Utah's first FitLot. This new outdoor exercise station adds to the recently opened Bickley Park at 2508 South 500 East. The outdoor fitness station was generously donated by AARP and designed by FitLot. The funding award includes three years of programming to ensure free fitness classes at the new FitLot. The equipment is designed for seniors but accessible to all. Thank you to Alan Ormsby and AARP-Utah!

COMMUNITY CHAMPIONS —SSL Homeless Resource Officers (HROs)

Sgt. Cody Coggle, Chad Leetham, Jason Rasmussen, James Gray, Alex Plascencia, Daniel Zajonc & Quinton Addison

Our public safety has long been known as exemplary, so it was no surprise that our HRO Team was identified as the best at what they do. In a May 2021 report from the Office of the Legislative Auditor General, the SSL HROs were called out as a best practice. This group embodies Community Policing at its best, serving homeless individuals by utilizing a personable approach. Our HRO team engages the homeless community with consistent, frequent, and, whenever possible, positive interactions. These seven individuals have perhaps the most challenging work in our city, yet they shine as the model in our state and continue to pave the way for solutions.

BEST PUBLIC ART —Krysta Dimik Resident & Architect

Finding herself on a committee tasked with designing and building the Days of '47 South Salt Lake Stake Float, Krysta sought to find a way to use resources more sustainably. Floats are expensive to build, only to be thrown away after a parade. She and her team designed an art piece, the elements of which represent different aspects of life, diversity, and culture here in SSL. Krysta worked with Promise SSL and welcomed youth helpers on the project. You can see Krysta's Best Public Art on display at the Historic Scott School campus.

BEST LOCAL ART ADVOCATE —Josh Scheuerman

Josh is a native Utahn known throughout the valley for his graphic design, photography, and painting skills. He is the go-to guy in the mural community, always willing to lend a hand, equipment, and expertise. Josh cares deeply about making the world a better place; he is known for using his artistic talents to promote community and environmental activism in his native Salt Lake City and abroad. His work in SSL includes Godzilla Gnomes on Sugarpost and Arches National Park on Signed & Numbered.

MURAL

Mural Fest 2022 was a huge hit! In its 5th year, The Artist Meet and Greet on May 14th was not only well attended (approx. 4,000!), the weather, entertainment, food trucks, and the entire scene were nothing short of magical. You can enjoy the incredible art by downloading the Map and visiting the 11 new murals in our Downtown Creative Industries Zone. Our highest thanks to Lesly Allen, SSL Arts Council Director, the many staff and volunteers, building owners, and of course, to the coolest group of mural artists and apprentices!

Lastly, thank you to the Utah Division of Arts & Museums, Salt Lake County ZAP, Rocky Mountain Power, Utah Arts Alliance and the City of South Salt Lake for investing in public art!
