The Budget Breakdown

A Quick Summary of City Funds

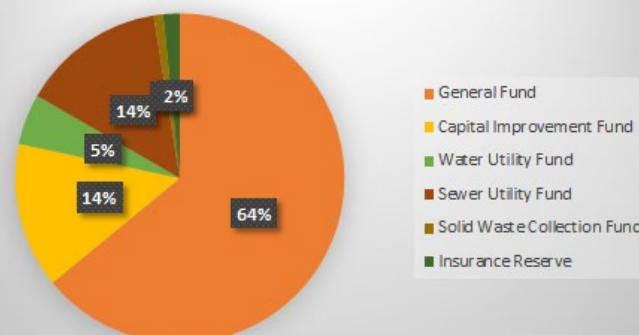

July 1 means more to your City than the halfway point in the year, it also signifies the start of a new fiscal year. The City's annual budget is drafted, proposed and approved over the course of about six months. While time-consuming, this critical task keeps the city running smoothly, selects projects to tackle, and addresses priorities to better meet the needs of our residents and businesses.

As early as January, department heads and division managers, staff and myself work to assess our needs, prioritize public requests, and discuss expenditures for the coming year's budget. As a City, we pledge to operate transparently, and I lay it all out each year in our draft budget. Here, I will also try to give a snapshot version. Where does the money come from? Where does it go? How are we held accountable?

Governmental entities use the concept of "fund accounting" as a way to record and recognize financial transactions. In this application "funds" are defined as self-balancing sets of accounts based on the fund purpose and the primary revenue source of that fund.

For fiscal year 2021-2022 the City will utilize seven funds, each with a different purpose: General, Capital Improvements, Water, Sewer, and Solid Waste Collection Utilities, an insurance internal service fund, and a fund to record redevelopment activities. These funds all have dedicated, or primary, revenue sources. Those revenue sources finance various services that are provided to the residents and businesses.

SSL Fiscal Budget for 2021 - 2022

The largest piece of the pie (64%), the General Fund (GF), primarily comes from property taxes, sales taxes and other government fees, grants and revenues. The GF covers a vast number of critical things. Including many City services that residents will recognize, such as: law enforcement, fire and ambulance services, road repairs and maintenance, planning, zoning, engineering, animal services, parks, recreation, and administration are all financed in the GF. Also, the grant revenue that finances Promise SSL is recorded in the GF. The GF affords the cost of our current and new city employees, it funds the city justice court, clerks and attorneys. It is for the preservation of green spaces, our streams, parks and playgrounds, and for building and repairing roads and sidewalks. This year, it will provide the means to create a Civilian Review Board.

Our Capital Improvement Fund (14%), is also derived from taxes. Certain large building, equipment, road, and infrastructure expenditures, which support and enhance the services financed in the General Fund, are recorded here. In 2021, the City has plans to remodel the Columbus Center into a new community space, renovate the Fitts Park playgrounds and begin repairs at the Historic Scott School. On the infrastructure side, we will continue updating and expanding street lighting, planting trees, and improving pedestrian walkways. This fund also pays for new equipment and vehicles which deliver services, such as trucks, fire engines and patrol vehicles.

Water, Sewer and Solid Waste Utility Funds (21%) are more straightforward. These funds come from fees charged on city utility bills. Our city's aging systems require continual maintenance, repairs and restructuring. Fees are calculated and assessed to customers of a particular service and all fee revenue is reinvested into the specific fund. The City strives to assess the correct level of fees to ensure the various services are well maintained and reliable.

The smallest city budget, the Insurance Reserve, of 3%, goes towards allocating costs for liability and property insurance to the various City departments and facilities.

Once adopted by the City Council, I sign for its executive approval and the new budget goes into effect on July 1. This sounds a lot simpler than it is in real life. There are lots of requests from council members and residents, debate over what the role of government is in funding different items, and of course the obligation to balance the budget. It would seem we get to take a vacation after all this work, but typically, we are back the next day at the starting line, gearing up for all the projects and commitments we have made. Another year off to the races - and I am ready!

CITY COUNCIL CORNER

Living a Happier, Healthier Life

By Corey Thomas, District 2

I have noticed lately there has been a fair amount of negativity within our community and saddens me to see that. I believe we live in a great city. There may be times when people do not agree and that is perfectly normal. But sometimes things can go too far. I would love to share some tips on how to be more positive. I believe a positive outlook on life goes such a long way in living a happier and healthier life. Here are a few things I think are great ways to start small.

1. Focus on the good things.
2. Practice gratitude.
3. Do something kind.
4. Surround yourself with positive influences.
5. Find the positive viewpoint in a negative situation.
6. Add value and positivity to someone else's life.
7. Learn to take criticism in a healthy way.
8. Encourage others.

I hope we can grow as a city in a positive way by helping one another, listening and respecting each other.

Note: Opinions expressed here may not be representative of all Members of the City Council.

Public Safety

Let's Celebrate, but Make it Safe

It's a Dry, HOT Summer,
Don't Get Burned

Message from SSLFD Chief Terry Addison

After careful consideration, the South Salt Lake Fire Department has determined that due to the current existing hazardous environmental conditions such as low humidity and moisture content of vegetation, fireworks, explosive devices, and open flames create a safety hazard to the community.

Pursuant to South Salt Lake Municipal Code §8.18.090 giving authority to the Fire Chief, during times of adverse fire and hazardous environmental conditions, regarding meteorological conditions, moisture content of plants and soils, and extreme fire danger throughout Utah, in the protection of the health, safety, and welfare of the public; effective immediately and in effect until further notice, fireworks, explosive devices, and open fires are prohibited within the municipal boundaries of the City of South Salt Lake. Residential barbecues are the only exception.

Violations of these restrictions may result in fines and cost recovery of fire-fighting expenses for negligently started fires and may also result in the filing of criminal charges.

The order I brought forward is supported by City Administration and the majority of the City Council via Resolution No. R2021-07 passed on June 23, 2021.

It is the exception for City Officials to take such expansive action. The drought conditions we are experiencing are worse than most of us have seen in our lifetime. 90% of Utah is in an extreme drought. Our reservoirs are visibly lower than prior years and there is no telling how long this drought will last.

As Fire Chief, I am sworn to protect life and property. I am dedicated to ensuring the safety and peace-of-mind of all South Salt Lake residents. For these reasons, I brought forward the Fire Restriction Order to protect the safety of everyone in South Salt Lake. We are asking you to skip personal fireworks this year and make sure everyone can enjoy a safe and fun holiday!

State of the City Awards 2020/2021

AN UNPRECEDENTED YEAR BROUGHT US EVEN MORE TO BE THANKFUL FOR

Dear Friends of South Salt Lake,

Our once overlooked city is becoming a small city with BIG opportunities. South Salt Lake has grown to embody our "City on the Move" tagline as we have risen from our industrial roots and legacy neighborhoods to become a bustling urban village. Take a look all around – our move to becoming a vibrant, diverse community is not by chance. Many people, businesses and partners are now discovering South Salt Lake and making it their home. It is you, our hard-working and caring community who have made it so appealing and enduring.

No doubt, with so many options for housing, schools, businesses, and recreation, South Salt Lake is the place to be. Our views are breathtaking, our neighborhoods are fun and close to everything, and our parks, trails and amenities keep getting bigger and better. Now that our downtown is booming with big cranes, big construction and big plans, we are getting noticed.

But not just for the big stuff – we are also being recognized for staying the unique small town we have always been. Our diversity is our secret. We honor people for who they are, invest in their future and share their successes.

Every year at the State of the City, I take stock of where we have been and what we have accomplished. It was nothing less than hard work, grit, fearless persistence and seizing opportunities. We mastered the pandemic pivot and are here in 2021 with a whole new outlook. We had to cancel this event last year, but return with even more to be thankful for. The list is long as there are so many to thank. It is my honor to bring to you the Best of South Salt Lake awards, the 2020 and 2021 edition. These are the people, partners, places and success stories that make South Salt Lake so special.

With gratitude,

Cherie Wood

State of the City
Awards at sslc.com

Several local residents and business owners celebrated together at the 2020/2021 State of the City. The Columbus Center auditorium was beautifully decorated with live plants, flowers and trees, delicious food was prepared by local business As U Wish, and everyone had a great time!

The Invocation was given by Reverend Monica Dobbins of the First Unitarian Church of Salt Lake City. Rev. Monica's work at First Unitarian includes preaching and religious education for adults, and her social justice concerns include immigrant rights, health care equity, and LGBTQ+ care and justice.

Mayor Cherie Wood with two young residents, Johnny and Lucy.

Member of the SSL Facilities team and Equity Champion, Eddie Chacon.

The youngest to receive an award this year, Lela Stinson started a free little library in front of her home and expanded to a food pantry in 2020.

SSLFD Chief Terry Addison stands as Mayor Wood presents him as the 2020 Equity Champion.

As our Deputy City Recorder, Ariel Andrus earned this honor as the 2020 Employee of the Year!

Have you been to the new all-abilities Ida and Laurie Bickley Park yet? It was wonderful having the Bickley family present—Ida, daughter Laurie and son Kent.

2020 Legacy Family of the Year, The Dahir Family.

The 2020 Best Friend of Youth - Free Bikes 4 Kidz. They have partnered with Promise to give our youth the joyful experience of riding a bike of their own.

She brought her smile to those spending months in isolation as she delivered hundreds of meals to homebound seniors during the pandemic. Lisa Burke is the neighbor we all want and our 2020 Citizen of the Year.

We wish to thank Rick Taggart who was the Emcee for this Year's State of the City.

United Way & Promise SSL Partner of the Year - Utah Community Action

Utah Community Action is consistently an amazing partner, as they support Housing and Case Management, Head Start, and our Adult Education programming. As a dedicated Promise Partner, UCA worked hard during the pandemic, and to continue to support students and families in South Salt Lake. One service that particularly stands out were the free meals which were provided for the youth (fresh, good food, and including formula and diapers for infants) at our Central Park Head Start location, which is also continuing this summer (see UCA Summer Dinners).

Many parents mentioned how picking up meals was a godsend in assisting them through this time. This message was shared from a family's curbside experience last summer during quarantine, "THANK YOU for doing this, going to pick up meals has become our activity and outing for the day. We get bathed and dressed and ready to go get lunch. Then we come back home or stop at a park and eat it. It has made all the difference in the world for us and it's what we look forward to each day." UCA truly stepped in to support our residents who were struggling to stay afloat.

2021 Employee of the Year - Neile Hill

Detective Neile Hill started at South Salt Lake Police Department in 2009, and has the reputation as the "go-to guy" to get things done. In any and every position that he has held he has taken pride and excelled in it. Even after 11 years of service, Detective Hill still works as hard as the first day he started. As the current senior Detective, he handled just about any type of case that the City of South Salt Lake could send him (but this is not a challenge). For now, he oversees "person's crimes" which include serious crimes of a personal nature, such as murder, robberies, aggravated assaults and rape cases.

SSLPolice Chief Jack Carruth shared, "Detective Hill's experience as an investigator can be seen in his detailed reports and clearance of cases. You will never catch him in the spotlight, but you will always find him hard at work with his team."

When visiting, it's common to find officers inside the station talking to Detective Hill and seeking advice on how to better work with an initial case. It is also common to watch him busy at his desk, typing away. On duty or off, Detective Hill never misses a call-out and is always available by phone. As is well known, Detective Hill is passionate about his work, and goes above and beyond in all his assigned cases.

Detective Hill truly is a Rock Star!

2021 Community Builder - Lela's Little Free Pantry & Library

Sometime during the year, while passing by Granite Park Jr. High, one of our staff noticed a small white cabinet perched on a post in front of a neighboring home. Marked with the words, "Lela's Little Free Library," she discovered that inside was a selection of several books available for those who want to take them home to read.

Curious about the story behind this free library, we were able to finally meet up with the very busy Stinson family, and discovered that the project was inspired the oldest daughter of their family, now 15 year old Anela (who's nickname is Lela), who since a very young age has always possessed a strong desire to give back. Being a bibliophile, she also began to realize that not all people have access to libraries or can gain a library card (it's harder than you think). Her mom Christina assisted young Lela in building the little library, stocking it with books, either purchased, recycled from their own book collection, or donated by other community members.

While they began this project in 2019, at one point, the library was vandalized and was no longer usable. Then, a kind neighbor took charge and volunteered to repair and repost it so it could be open again for business. In 2020 and due to the increased needs of the community, the family again rethought this little free library as an opportunity to help a little more, and opened up a second free food pantry, with snacks and other food items for anyone, students, neighbors, or any passers by.

"Let your faith be bigger than your fear," became the new theme of Lela's Free "repaired" Little Library. Some people still ask, why would this family spend their time, money and resources on such a thing? As Lela's mom Christina so humbly put, "I see the value in this way of sharing, because I know those who receive really are in need of something here, and that's worth a lot."

Our hearts were touched by Lela and the Stinson family's efforts in building a better community by going the extra mile, and giving in a way, with no strings attached. If you feel inspired by this message, please donate or reach out to them!

2021 Community Champion - Laurie Hopkins

Laurie Hopkins is the of Shelter the Homeless, and owner of the Mens' Resource Center facility and is committed to homeless advocacy and in creating systems and structures that facilitate changing the trajectory of individuals experiencing homelessness towards equitable, low-income housing.

Ms. Hopkins advocated for SSL in securing shared land that was once a hot spot for illegal camping, and sustained a strong commitment to maintaining compliance with the Conditional Use Permit. She has genuinely invested in the success of the MRC, while mitigating and minimizing its impacts on the surrounding community. With the inclusion of the MRC, South Salt Lake is now exemplary in the larger, statewide homeless resource system.

2021 Equity Champion - Eduardo Chacon

South Salt Lake is a place that welcomes everyone - and the Columbus Center is where many of us come together, every day. Behind the scenes there is a team of people making sure that our buildings stay open, safe and welcoming.

When COVID-19 hit, we needed the support of the Facilities team to keep us going. In particular, one name comes to mind: Eddie Chacon. You know when staff have his contact information saved as "Eddie the Superhero" that he was critical to our mission. Eddie was on everyone's speed dial. From extra bottles of surface disinfectant to paper towels, Eddie was always there when we needed him.

As the months went by and testing and vaccine clinics were being held at City buildings, Eddie stepped up once again. He was always there sanitizing, setting up and staying late to make sure everything was where it was supposed to be. We could not have run our programs throughout the pandemic without Eddie!

2021 Citizen of the Year - Edward Lopez

Edward Lopez has been working with Promise SSL for six years and truly embodies serving others, personally and professionally. Giving much of his time, talents and connections to raise others up, many of us not only appreciate, but we genuinely enjoy working with him. Edward's smile is contagious, and if you didn't know, he has an incredible, operatic voice. When asked to create a virtual sing-along holiday video for the Interfaith Council, not only did he run with it, he performed as well, singing Auld Lang Syne.

As a leader, Edward is both a mentor and friend to our Youth City Council, well, and to all our youth. Over the past year, he took on many extra public communication assignments, and being fluent in both English and Spanish, was extremely valuable in keeping our Spanish speaking residents informed, engaged and connected to resources. Edward this made a big difference and we appreciate that.

Edward Lopez is known for being an advocate of the most vulnerable and to those who have the highest needs in our community. In essence, he brings a voice to those who are underrepresented. Edward is a problem solver, and often finds a solution when others have given up. We are indeed so fortunate to have him as a part of our team and community!

QUESTION: How can the City better promote our trails, waterways, and bike paths? What are the best/safest ways to get around SSL?

We agree that the city has some great outdoor recreation and bike routes. We are working on installing direction signs on several of them. The city partners with organizations such as Bike Utah and UDOT Free Bikes for Kids to continue to build bike routes, and make bikes available to residents.

There are many route maps out there, including a new one at sslc.com, which shows current and future routes. Some of these maps are on apps, such as Strava, but may not contain the most up-to-date info. Safety is the city's number one priority for transportation, and you can read the draft of the General Plan for more information on mobility strategies that will carry us into the future.

YCC Proposed Name Change to City Council

The Youth City Council under the direction of Promise SSL gained the support of many community members and large city stakeholders as they presented to the City Council a proposal about a name change for the Columbus Center in April. The City Council responded with a motion to revisit this matter at the City Council meeting scheduled for Wednesday, July 28th. You can review the YCC's Columbus Center Name Change Proposal at ssl.com, and can also direct your feedback with your City Council representative.

PROMISE BENCHES

CARE. SHARE. BE A FRIEND. BE PRESENT.

The new yellow benches around our city provide safe spaces to build community, find resources, and check in on yourself and on others. Sometimes a simple conversation can make all the difference in someone's life.

Find a Promise Bench at the following locations:
Central Park
Columbus Center
Fitt's Park
