Discovering SSL: How Our Small City Achieves Big Impact

What do Fitts Park, your weekly trash pickup, the Mural Fest, and your drinking water all have in common?

They are all overseen by the City of South Salt Lake! While it's sometimes overlooked, local government deeply influences our daily lives in big and small ways every day.

I became Mayor because I truly believe in our city's critical role in everyday life and its potential for building better communities. It's important for residents to understand our city's form of government and how they can participate to keep our city strong. So let's spend a little time this month on "Civics 101: How does your city work?"

South Salt Lake has a Mayor-Council form of government (sometimes called a "strong mayor" form of government), which means I am elected by our residents and given administrative authority over the city's various departments. I oversee daily operations of those departments, enforce city laws, and manage the city budget.

Our Council acts as the legislative body – crafting and passing laws and ordinances to enhance the residents everyday quality of life. Our council members work with me to address community needs and ensure smooth city operations.

Our Municipal Court and Justice Court Judge make up the judicial branch of our government – upholding and enforcing the laws.

With so much attention on the national political environment, people often don't understand how much of their daily lives are being determined at a local level. Whether it's a street light getting installed in your neighborhood or the fire department responding to an incident next door, here are just a few of the ways city government serves you:

- Safety: Our Police and Fire Departments and Animal Control Officers all protect residents, respond to emergencies, and maintain public safety.
- Infrastructure: Our Engineering Department oversees new projects while our Public Works Department maintains roads, sidewalks, and bike lanes that citizens rely on for daily commutes.

Discover Mural Fest! Mark your calendars for Saturday, May 10, 2025 for the 8th annual Mural Fest in South Salt Lake.

Zoning and Land Use: Local ordinances determine how land can be used, affecting property values and community development. Our Community Development Department leads long-term planning efforts to help navigate growth and change in the city.

Utilities: Our Public Works provides essential services like drinking water, stormwater, sanitary sewer, and garbage collection. These are fee-based services with fluctuating rates to keep the utilities solvent through service fees.

Recreation: Our Parks Division maintains our 9 city parks and other public use spaces, and our Recreation Department manages the many sports programs and community events.

Make a resolution this New Year to be more engaged with your local municipal government. Learn ways to get involved at sslc.gov.

Congratulations Ariel!

Congratulations to City Recorder, Ariel Andrus, for becoming a Certified Municipal Clerk through the Utah Municipal Clerks Association Board. The purpose of Municipal Clerk Certification is to enhance the job performance of City Recorders and Clerks in areas such as meeting procedures, record keeping, government transparency, ethics, and election laws. This is a long, involved process which will raise the bar in our Recorder's Office, and ultimately benefit our city as a whole. Thank you, Ariel.

January is National Radon Action Month

Have you tested your home for radon? Radon is a colorless, odorless gas that occurs naturally as chemicals in the earth break down over time. Radon is radioactive, and prolonged exposure can cause lung cancer—in fact, it is the second most common cause of lung cancer. The first step to protecting yourself and your family from radon is to test for it. You can get a free radon test kit from utahradonservice.com.

New Housing Facility Will Support Families Experiencing Homelessness

Shelter the Homeless and The Road Home are two critical service providers dedicated to helping those experiencing homelessness to find paths back to housing and into our community. You can support their work by volunteering or donating. Learn more by visiting their websites at homelessutah.org and theroadhome.org.

Shelter the Homeless purchased the shuttered Motel 6 property in South Salt Lake in April 2023 with the intent to open a non-congregate housing facility for families experiencing homelessness, the first of its kind in the state. The Road Home will operate the facility, which will serve families with special needs including those with infants, youth recovering from medical conditions, and keeping students in Granite School District to avoid education disruptions. The new Family Interim Non-congregate Housing facility will make two homeless resource centers in the City of South Salt Lake. During the August 2024 public hearing, Mayor Cherie Wood and City Council members went on record saying enough is enough for our small community of 27,000 residents, drawing a line in the sand and calling on other Salt Lake County municipalities to engage and help find solutions for our homeless crisis.

The Public Process.

When the nonprofit organization submitted their building application and conditional use permit (CUP) in September 2023, the city cited several issues the applicant needed to address to ensure the health and safety of the clients. One of which was a requirement to install fencing along two high-traffic routes of the property, I-15 to the west and 3300 S to the north. Both roads are owned by UDOT and their approval was needed to install a fence. After several months of working the formal public process and addressing building and use permit concerns, Shelter the Homeless and The Road Home presented during a special joint meeting of the South Salt Lake City Council and Planning Commission in August 2024 to answer questions from government officials and the public. This public hearing was necessary before the applicant could move forward with final zoning approval from the Council and CUP approval from the Planning Commission. Three months later, progress was made when the City Council approved the zoning change for the property in their December 2024 meeting.

What's Next?

The Planning Commission will meet to review the final Conditional Use Permit from the applicant during a public meeting in January 2025. If approved, Shelter the Homeless will have authority to open the doors and work with The Road Home to start providing family housing services. While Shelter the Homeless was working on getting permits for their property at 315 West 3300 South, The Road Home was working on securing the necessary funding to open and operate the facility. They will soon start hiring and training staff for the new family housing facility and anticipate an opening date this spring.

Teen Tech Center Students Take 3rd Place

BEST BUY
Teen Tech Center

Last month, teens from the Promise South Salt Lake Best Buy Teen Tech Center participated in Change Reaction: Business for Social Change. This competition, hosted by Slynghshot and the Clubhouse Network, encouraged participants to pitch business ideas that could create a positive impact in their communities. The contest received 40 entries from four different countries. Among the Promise South Salt Lake participants were a top 10 finalist, as well as the third place winner!

One business proposal, entitled Sacred Spaces, is for a culturally inclusive holiday store. The idea was born out of this youth's own experience with difficulty finding Diwali candles in any local stores. They said, "I want to make a business that could represent more holidays in Utah so more people could feel represented."

The other winning proposal, called Woven Heritage, was for a store that specializes in Native American-designed fashion. Describing their vision, this youth said, "I want to start this to express the culture and emotions of Natives around the country through fashionable and comfortable clothes."

Keep an eye out for these young entrepreneurs at local craft markets in the spring and summer!
